Longtown Notes.

The Christmas holidays passed off very quietly hereabouts, only one social being given in the neighborhood that we are aware of. Notwithstanding this we have had a very pleasant Christmas, and are thankful to the Giver of every good and perfect gift for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us, and especially for the greater blessings, the gift of a Saviour to a lost and ruined world.

Fight Will Be Bitter.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with the troubles, if not end earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. B. Beall of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once and four bottles entirely cured her. Guaranteed by J. H. McMaster & Co., and Obeard Drug Co., druggists. Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Woodward Gleanings.

The holidays are over, and the New Year has begun and our little city still retains her festive robe. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brice gave quite a delightful social on the evening of the 26th ult. The amusements of the evening were the old fashioned games, such as moving household and kitchen furniture, thimble, etc. Both young and old enjoyed these alike and all were carried back to their childhood days. Fruits and cakes were served bountifully.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Patrick were "at home" to their friends Friday evening. The parlor, hall and dining room were artistically decorated with holly and mistletoe. After a course supper, and the guests were assembled in the parlor, our hostess announced that he would have an old fashioned spelling bee. Mr. Lunce Brice was selected as professor, and he filled the position as if he had always followed the calling. Miss Emmie Nicholson won the first prize, and was presented a lovely china plate by Mr. A. H. Brice with appropriate remarks.

Our "host," who always had the pleasure of his guest in view, was presented with a tin horn as the booby prize for good spelling. The wee hours were near by when we bade Mr. and Mrs. Patrick good night, each declaring that they never spent a more enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Brice gave a dining to a few of their friends Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stewart, of Augusta, spent several days first of the week with relatives.

Messrs. Roy and George Coleman went to Augusta for the holidays.

Misses Helen and Katherine Brice were in the city Thursday. Miss Ruth Brice is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. W. Brice, Jr.

Mrs. Pearson is with her daughter, Mrs. Dave Mobley.

Mr. J. W. Coleman has returned to the S. C. College after spending the holidays at home.

Misses Nannie and Ruth Brice went to the German in Chester last Friday.

Mr. T. W. Boulware, Jr., returned to Roanoke after spending several days with relatives.

Mr. Angus Nicholson, Jr., is improving and we trust he will soon be able to return to Clemson.

Miss Nannie Nicholson spent Tuesday in Winnsboro.

Healthy Mothers.

Mother should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boschee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the home—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup, so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough-racked consumptive. Now trial bottles, 25c; large size, 75c. For sale by McMaster Co.

Ridgeway News.

On last Tuesday evening Mrs. C. P. Wray, the popular president of the Ladies' Book Club, gave a reception to the club members and many outside friends. Towards the end of the evening most delightful refreshments were served.

Miss Woodruff, of Woodruff, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hogan.

Miss Bessie McMaster, of Winnsboro, has been spending a few days with Miss Jennie Thomas.

Miss Sallie Davis, of Columbia, spent a few days with relatives in town.

Messrs. J. Q. and Bratton Davis, of Winnsboro, have been visiting Mr. Herbert Ruff.

Mr. Clarence Spence, of Columbia, spent the holidays at home.

Clinton G. Gilmore, of Lenox, Mass., is here for the winter.

Bishop Capers paid his annual visit to St. Stephens on last Wednesday.

Rev. W. N. Tillinghast, the former rector of the Episcopal church, stopped over with his friends for a day on his way back to Virginia.

Boy's Life Saved From Membranous Croup.

"My little boy had a severe attack of membranous croup, and only got relief after taking Foley's Honey and Tar says C. W. Lynch, a prominent citizen of Winchester, Ind. 'He got relief after one dose and I feel that it saved the life of my boy.' Don't be imposed upon by substitutes offered for Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by McMaster Co.

No use to strike up the hymn. Those repudiated carpet bags Southern bonds will never be able to sing. "I've been redeemed."—Atlanta Journal.

Report from the Reform School.

J. G. Cook, Superintendent, of the Longtown Reformatory, writes: "After trying all other advertised cures, we have decided to use Foley's Honey and Tar exclusively in the West Virginia Reform School. I find it the most effective and absolutely harmless." Sold by McMaster Co.

Henry W. Grady on the Whiskey Traffic.

To-night it enters an humble home to strike the roses from a woman's cheeks and to-morrow it challenges this republic in the halls of Congress.

To-day it strikes a crust from the lips of a starving child, and to-morrow levies tribute from the government itself.

There is no cottage humble enough to escape it, no palace strong enough to shut it out.

It defies the law when it cannot coerce suffrage.

It is flexible to cajole, but merciless in victory.

It is mortal enemy of peace and order, the despoiler of men and terror of women, the cloud that shadows the face of children, the demon that has dug more graves and sent more souls unshriven to judgment than all the pestilences that have wasted life since God sent the plagues to Egypt, and all the wars since Joshua stood beyond Jericho.

It comes to ruin, and it shall profit mainly by the ruin of your sons and mine.

It came to mislead human souls and to crush human hearts under its rumbling wheels.

It comes to bring gray-haired mothers down in shame and sorrow to their graves.

It comes to change the wife's love into despair and her pride into shame.

It comes to still the laughter on the lips of little children.

It comes to stifle all the music of the home and fill it with silence and desolation.

It comes to ruin your body and mind, to wreck your home, and it knows it must measure its prosperity by the swiftness and certainty with which it wrecks this world.

Revolution Imminent.

A sure sign of approaching revolt and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismember the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, and clarify the blood. Run down systems benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under its searching and thorough effectiveness. Electric Bitters is only 50c, and that is returned if it don't give perfect satisfaction. Guaranteed by J. H. McMaster & Co., and Obeard Drug Co., druggists.

Hard on Doctors.

There are two stories that are told at the Savage club. Doctor is sent for to attend a sick woman; on his arrival finds woman dead.

"Why was I not summoned sooner?" doctor asks, angrily. "Why did I think of it," explains the bereaved husband, "but we concluded that it would be cheaper to let her die a natural death."

On another occasion doctor arrives too late. Husband explains: "You see doctor, when she complained of feeling bad I gave her the pill you prescribed for me a year ago, but which I did not take. It's awful, I know, but just think what would have happened if I'd have taken it."—London Letter.

Just the Thing for Weak, Pale Children

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 2, 1903. Dear Sir: I have been giving Dr. James' Iron Blood and Liver Tonic to my little daughter. She was pale and weak, and had no appetite. She has been benefited by your tonic a great deal, and is much stronger, eats well, and looks healthier. I cheerfully recommend Iron Blood and Liver Tonic as a splendid medicine.

Yours respectfully,
J. J. Handcock,

A Missouri farmer gives the following simple means of getting rid of rats on the farm. He says: "On a number of pieces of old shingle I put about a half teaspoonful of molasses and on that with my pocket knife I scraped a quantity of concentrated lye. I then placed the shingle and the next morning found 40 dead rats on the premises, the balance having perished unknown. I have since cleared a number of farms of these pests and have never known the plan to fail. It is a simple remedy to say the least and well worth trying."—Ex.

Say "Murray's."

When you've got a bad cough just say "MURRAY'S." If a druggist shows you anything but Murray's Honey and Tar you're not getting the best and surest cough remedy. Make him give you Murray's. Acts quicker and you get a 50c, 40c bottle for 25c. Every druggist has it.

Columbia Mule Market.

Fifteen years ago the bulk of mules sold in this section were sold by the stock raisers themselves. Drivers, as they were called, would bunch up their stock and drive through or ship south to the cotton country, generally making some good town their headquarters and retailing out their mules. Nowadays the business is conducted in an entirely different way. The breeder ships his stock to the wholesale market and they are sold to the mule merchants who buy them for their regularly established places of business. The mule man of today buys his mules and places them on sale just as the merchant buys his goods and places them in his store for sale.

About 13 years ago the Gregory Brothers, then doing a good mule business at Lancaster, S. C., seeing an opportunity and believing in the future of Columbia, opened a retail business in this city on Plain street. Being supported by a strong concern it withstood the financial strains of '93, which told on so many in all lines of business, and gradually grew until the year 1899 when it was decided to enlarge the business which resulted in the forming of a corporation known as the Gregory-Rhea Mule company. This concern is now known far and wide as being one of some magnitude. They do an extensive business selling mules by the hundreds and in dollars and cents counting way up in the thousands. They also handle in connection quite a large number of vehicles. Mr. W. T. Gregory, president of the company, is a resident of Lancaster, S. C., where he was born and raised. Mr. T. J. Harper, vice president, is a resident of Columbia and one of our most substantial citizens.

Mr. Jno. W. Conder, secretary and treasurer as well as manager, is well known in Columbia, was raised in Columbia, but got his early training in the office of the Gregory Brothers at Lancaster. He is known as a man that represents his goods just as they are.

Mr. Gregory is also the promoter and president of sale stables doing business at Lancaster, S. C., Bishopville, S. C., Timmonsville, S. C., and Charleston, S. C., and is considered one of the largest dealers in live stock in the State.

Their buyer, Mr. J. M. Hood, also one of the stockholders, spent most of his time in the wholesale markets looking for bargains for their different places. He has plenty of gray hairs on his head and 'tis said can shut one eye and size up a mule as quick as anyone.—Adv.

A Frightened Horse.

Running like mad down the street, dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves every body to have a reliable salve handy and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, cuts, sores, eczema and piles disappear quickly under its soothing effect. 25c, at Obeard drug store, McMaster & Co., and J. H. McMaster & Co., drug stores.

Lord Rosebery said: "The non-returning of books has ended more friendships and terminated more affections than any other cause of which he was cognizant. The man who borrowed one volume from a set and never returned it was a man who should be treated like vermin, trapped or shot at sight, or any other of the punishments which might be extended to the least and vilest of mankind."

Straight Facts.

A whole lot of fancy phrases can be written about remedies, but it takes facts to prove anything—good straight facts. And the strongest fact you ever heard is that Tannopiline is the best cure for piles on the market. It cures absolutely. Has a healing, soothing effect from the start.

All druggists have it for $1.00 a jar. Ask for Tannopiline and don't dare take a substitute.

There don't seem to be as much hurry about the Panama canal as there was about the organization of the Panama republic.—Washington Post.

Used an Explosive Bullet.

The Columbia correspondent of the News and Courier says:

A rather pretty story has just developed in the past few days in which Bishop Capers takes a part, and which brings back recollections of the days of 1861-1865, in a very vivid manner. The story tells of the capture of a Federal prisoner by the bishop, then an officer in the 24th South Carolina regiment, and the part played by other members of the same regiment, whose names have been forgotten.

The incident happened on James Island, where a detachment of soldiers from the various South Carolina companies, just raised, were stationed. Bishop Capers and three soldiers were coming over from the headquarters of the officers toward the line where sentries had been thrown out.

Just across the line a Northern soldier was seen, and it was evident that he had landed for some purpose not for the good of the men on the island who wore the gray. He was approached so rapidly that he had no chance to escape and was told to surrender. There was some parley at first, as the man, evidently a brave soldier, did not wish to be taken in this way without having a chance for a fight, but the folly of such procedure was quickly shown, and he turned over his gun and marched back to camp.

The gun was kept by Bishop Capers for years and several efforts were made to find its owner. Finally by searching over the records it was found that the gun belonged to some member of the 11th Connecticut volunteers. Then the tracing was a little easier, and finally the man who owned the gun was located. His name is Francis G. Cope and he lives in a small town in Connecticut. The gun is now being repaired and will be returned by the bishop at once. It is still a dangerous looking weapon, which shot a paper shell loaded with powder and an explosive bullet.

After all, it is hard to say whether the boll weevil, Wall street or the government cotton guess is most responsible for the ill attendant upon the cotton planter.—Atlanta Journal.

A Thousand Dollars' Worth of Good.

"I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones excruciating pain," says A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicines until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me a $1000 dollars worth of good."
